

APPOINTMENT OF MATTHEW IVES AS CEO OF DUNHILL

dunhill is pleased to announce the appointment of Matthew Ives as Chief Executive Officer, effective 13 October 2025. Matthew will report to Philippe Fortunato, Chief Executive Officer of Richemont's Fashion & Accessories Maisons.

A graduate of the University of Cambridge, Matthew began his career as a consultant with McKinsey & Co. before spending over 10 years at Richemont in senior leadership roles at Cartier and Van Cleef & Arpels. He rejoins Richemont after three years as SVP, Chief Commercial Officer at De Beers in London.

"I am delighted to be joining dunhill and working alongside Creative Director Simon Holloway to strengthen its position as the leading British masculine luxury Maison," said Matthew Ives.

"Matthew's deep knowledge of both the luxury industry and Richemont will be invaluable in leading dunhill into its next chapter," said Philippe Fortunato. "I would also like to warmly thank Andrew Holmes, dunhill's Chief Operating & Financial Officer, for serving as CEO ad interim since early 2024."

For more information and images, please contact:

Paul.barlow@dunhill.com

ABOUT DUNHILL

Synonymous with craftsmanship and design, dunhill is the foremost British men's luxury House with a history spanning over 130 years. A trusted destination of elevation, classicism and hedonism, dunhill offers a full lifestyle proposition, from refined tailoring and ready-to-wear, to elevated leather goods, exquisite gifting and hard luxury pieces.

Leveraging a unique heritage and rich archive, dunhill ensures uncompromising quality that endures time and trends – echoing the pioneering spirit of founder, Alfred Dunhill. Innovation and contemporaneity have always been integral to the House – from its inception in 1893 to the present day and beyond.

Attention to detail, excellence, functionality, and a personalised approach epitomises the House.

Britishness defines us – English style sets us apart.